

SLEEP AND DEATH.

Similar Condition Wherein the Element of Time is Estimated.

man in Hiawatha, Kan., who slept continuously for three years interruptedly since the first part of September, died the other day. He passed from sleep which simulated death into the sleep which is no waking in this world. The element illustrates the close analogy between sleep and death, especially in the estimation of the time element. One man into a sound sleep and awakes in a moment. He has not been conscious of the lapse of time. If he slept eight days, it is all the same to him, so far as nothing of time is concerned, as he had slept only one minute or one hour. May not an appreciation of the fact rob death of some of the horror with which it is invested by many? Some people, who have an unshakable faith in the ultimate awakening, trouble themselves about the long dreary sleep of death which may last for countless years. They wonder if the spirit may be doing in that apparently cheerless reach of time. Should there be much wonder or much dread when in natural sleep the element of time or duration is eliminated from the consciousness and the consciousness of a day is but as the knowingness of a minute? A man down at night and in the morning he wakes. After awhile he will lie down in death and in the morning he awakes. In the one case he sleeps ten hours; in the other he may sleep for centuries. The wide-awake world in either case will move on in its activities, its changes and evolutions, with the sleeper there is no note of time or action. The sleeper who awakes after a thousand years of slumber may be surprised at the early coming of the morn. There is no time but now. "A thousand years in Thy sight are but as yesterday, when it is past, and as a watch in the night."—Nashville Banner.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in the curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address: F. J. CROWE & Co., Toledo, O. ## Life is Growing Longer.

From statistics and certain changes in our methods of living, it has been proven that life is being steadily lengthened. We are justified in believing this when we consider the great advance made in medicine during the past fifty years, the most noteworthy of them being Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. This ideal medicine cures headache, sour stomach, belching, heartburn and indigestion, also steadies the nerves, induces sound sleep and prevents malaria, fever and ague. Be sure to try it.
